4.4. When conducting admissions to degree programmes of higher education, the Admissions Committee at least before 1 November 2021 shall announce the minimum score of points sufficient for successful completion of each admissions test for every separate degree educational programme or for a group of degree programmes within a unified competitive selection.

4.5. The schedule of all admissions tests for degree programmes of higher education (with information on the subject, date, time, place of examination, consultation (if any), results announcement day specified) shall be approved by the Admissions Committee and made available to the applicants at least before 1 June 2022. The schedule shall not indicate information of admissions tests board members. The results of admissions tests shall be announced within the time appointed by the admissions tests schedule.

4.6. Persons who have failed to attend admissions tests upon the justifiable reason (illness or other circumstances confirmed by appropriate documents) shall be allowed to undergo respective admissions tests during either the next admissions test period in case the admissions tests are held as the applicant groups are formed or before the admissions tests final deadline, or on the reserved for admissions tests day based on a written application with the appropriate confirming documents filed with the Admission Committee. Such an application with the documents must be submitted before the deadline established by these Regulations. The applicant is allowed to undergo only one admissions test on one reserved for the admissions test day.

4.7. When admissions tests for the chosen type and/or condition of study to degree programmes of higher education are organised in several streams, the applicant is allowed to take each admission test only once, i.e. in one of the streams.

4.8. All admissions tests shall be held in compliance with the Regulations for Admissions Tests for Degree Programmes of Higher Education at St Petersburg University in 2022 available in Appendix 1 hereto.

4.9. St Petersburg University shall ensure the anonymity of all applicants' examination papers during their assessment in the manner their authorship cannot be identified.

4.10. Should they disagree with the obtained score of points for their admissions tests, or should they suspect these Regulations have been violated during admissions test sessions, the applicant shall have the right to file a properly written appeal (an appeal) with the St Petersburg University Appeals Panel in the manner prescribed by the Regulations for Review of Written Works, Appeal Submission and Appeal Proceedings that constitute Appendix 2 hereto.

5. Consideration of the Applicants' Individual Achievements

5.1. Applicants are entitled to submit any information concerning their individual achievements before the deadline established in Clauses 7.3 and 8.9 of these Regulations. Their results shall be considered during the admission procedure.

5.2. Individual achievements shall be taken into consideration and scored by points for individual achievements either to add them to the competitive selection score of points under Clause 6.5 hereto or to account for them while comparing personal achievements quantity in case other competitive selection criteria are equal.

5.3. Procedures for considering individual achievements of applicants applying for admission to bachelor's or specialist's degree programmes are set forth in Chapter 7 herein. The list and the procedures for evaluating the individual achievements of the applicants applying for admission to master's degree programmes are available in Appendix 3.

6. Enrolment Procedures

6.1. Enrolment to degree programmes of higher education to the respective type and/or conditions of study shall be carried out based on competitive selection results within admission quotas to government-funded places or places on the fee-paying (contractual) basis paid by individuals and/or legal entities (depending on the types and conditions specified in the admission application submitted) established for corresponding degree programme of higher education to the respective type and/or condition of study.

2.6. To ensure compliance of the admissions test organisation with Clause 2.5 of the Regulations for Admissions Tests:

2.6.1. the examination board members, other authorised St Petersburg University personnel and/or authorised personnel of other organisations shall control the identities of applicants to ensure that the very person who applied for the admissions test is taking part in the admissions test. To do so, the applicants before the admissions test starts shall present on a video camera the original of their identity document (a page with their family name, first name, middle name and a photograph); in the manner prescribed by Clause 1.6. of these Regulations, at least before the period of admissions tests starts, the Admission Committee shall announce the following: the information about requirements to the equipment for holding admissions tests, procedures of obtaining access to the St Petersburg University system of distance learning by the applicants, admissions tests tasks, the order of entering (typing in) the answers to the admissions tests tasks by the applicants, the algorithm the applicants have to follow before the admissions tests start to ensure personal identification and control of compliance with the regulations for admissions tests during the admissions tests, information about the possibility of earlier completion of the admissions test, whether it is allowed/not allowed to leave the examination room for short breaks, and the procedures of leaving the examination room in case such leaves are allowed.

3. Procedures for Holding Admissions Tests

3.1. At least two members of the respective examination board shall grade each applicant's oral part of the admissions test (interviewing) or the oral element of the test. To prepare for the oral answer, the applicant shall be given 45 minutes (20 minutes to work with the text at a foreign language examination). During the admissions test, the applicant may be asked additional questions concerning the topic of their examination card. To prepare for answering the examination card questions, the applicant shall use the blank form for oral task answers. The examiners shall keep records of the correctness and completeness of the answers to the questions from the examination card and additional questions.

3.2. When holding the oral part of the admissions test or the oral element of the test, the board shall keep a record of questions they ask the applicant, brief commentary of the examiners (synopsis) of the answers to them and award grades for each part of the admissions test syllabus.

3.3. The final grade for the oral part of the admissions test or the oral element of the test shall be put in a figure and in cursive into the sheet of the oral (oral and written) answer signed by at least two examiners.

3.4. The syllabus of the admissions test shall specify the duration of the admissions test conducted in written form.

3.5. The duration of the practical creative and/or professional-specific admissions test may be specified for each particular case in accordance with the syllabus of the respective admissions test.

3.6. A written examination paper with notes that can help identify the paper's authorship shall not be admitted to the assessment by the examination board. The applicant shall be awarded the lowest grade (zero score). In the above-mentioned case, a statement of the violation and the applicant's failure at their admissions test upon a non-justifiable reason shall be drawn out, and its electronic copy shall be sent to the applicant.

3.7. Each applicant must perform their admissions test tasks independently.

3.8. During the admissions test, no interaction between the applicants and any other persons shall not be allowed except the members of the examination boards, authorised St Petersburg University personnel and/or authorised personnel of other organisations on issues directly concerning the admissions test organisation.

3.9. Should an applicant during the admissions test carry or use any written and/or printed materials, devices (including means of communication) prohibited for use or violate provisions of Clauses 3.7 and 3.8 of the Regulations for Admissions Tests, they shall be withdrawn from the admissions test and awarded the lowest grade (zero score) If such violations are established after the admissions test session, the applicant is awarded the lowest grade (zero score) regardless the content of the examination paper. In the above-mentioned case, a statement of the violation and the applicant's failure at their admissions test upon a non-justifiable reason shall be drawn out, and its electronic copy shall be sent to the applicant.

4. Organisation of Admissions Tests for Physically Challenged and Disabled Applicants

4.1. Admissions tests for physically challenged and disabled applicants shall be held with an account of their psycho-physical characteristics, their individual capabilities and health condition.

4.2. In their admission application, a physically challenged and disabled applicant can specify the need for an increased duration of the admissions test session. The duration of the admissions test session for physically challenged and disabled applicants, who have specified such a need, shall be increased by 60 minutes.

5. Regulations for the Competitive Selection of Documents (Portfolio)

5.1. To pass an admissions test in the form of competitive selection of documents (portfolio), applicants, along with the documents required for admission to the competitive selection, shall submit the documents and materials that confirm their aspiration to pursue the chosen degree programme, their achievements in academic, research and practical activities.

5.2. The list of documents (portfolio) for the competitive selection shall be specified by the syllabus of the admissions test for each degree programme outlined by the applicant in their admission application.

5.3. All documents specified by the syllabus of the admissions test held in the form of the competitive selection of documents (portfolio) shall be submitted within the competitive applications acceptance periods specified in the Regulations for Admission.

5.4. In case their standard education credential is absent upon the circumstances beyond their control at the point of conducting an admissions test in the form of competitive selection of documents (portfolio), graduates from educational organisations shall provide a standard transcript certified by the seal of the educational organisation specifying their completion of the curriculum, successful passing of the State Final Assessment in the degree programme, the disciplines studied, assessment results, and the date of issuance of the standard credential.

5.5. To participate in the competitive selection for the admission to degree programmes with admissions test in the form of the competitive selection of documents (portfolio), the following documents may be considered depending on the syllabi of the relevant admissions tests:

5.5.1. A motivation letter containing a well-reasoned description of the aspiration and ability to study the chosen degree programme. The motivation letter must contain necessary information about professional experience and/or work of the applicant; information confirming the necessity of obtaining the knowledge, skills, and competencies specified by the chosen programme; prospects and/or plans of implementing the acquired knowledge, skills, and competences in the future professional activity;

5.5.2. an essay (a creative or research paper) on one specified topic. List of topics, standards applied to the length, and essay assessment criteria shall be specified in the syllabi of the respective admissions tests held in the form of competitive selection of documents (portfolio);

5.5.3. copies of publications in scientific sources (periodicals, collections of papers, and monographs). An applicant shall attach a copy of the title page of the journal with its masthead and the link to the research article in the Web of Science Core Collection and Scopus, Russian Science Citation Index (Elibrary) scientometric databases to the text of their publications;

5.5.4. documents confirming the applicants' participation in conferences, seminars, round tables and other scientific and research events. Abstracts of research papers and an event programme can be such documents;

5.5.5. diplomas of a winner, awardee, laureate or participant of open-all-Russia and regional competitions of student research papers and student olympiads of various levels;

5.5.6. documents and materials confirming both the applicant's participation in research projects supported by grants and the obtained by the results;

5.5.7. documents and materials confirming the applicant's work (including the efficiency) in research laboratories, research teams, etc.;

5.5.8. a service record statement or a copy of their labour contract certified by an authorised employee of the organisation confirming their length of service and practical experience;

5.5.9. statements confirming scholarships (presidential, governmental or sponsored) from educational institutions carrying out the educational activity;

5.5.10. certificates confirming their foreign language level;

5.5.11. other documents and materials specified by the syllabus of the admissions test held in the form of competitive selection of documents (portfolio).

5.6. The applicants must submit their documents for the admissions test held in the form of the competitive selection of documents (portfolio) in the form of an electronic image in PDF (PortableDocumentFiles) interplatform open format for electronic documents. The electronic image of a document must ensure the visual identity to its hard copy original on a 1:1 scale. The quality of the submitted copy of a document must ensure the entire legibility of the text of the document and identification of its details. Should the hard copy of a document contain two or more pages, the electronic images of such documents shall constitute one file. It is strongly recommended to make a scanned copy of documents with a resolution of at least 300 dpi. The applicants must not submit illegible scanned copies and images with sufficient parts missing (text segments, signatures, seals or stamps, etc.).

5.7. Depending on the syllabus of the respective admissions test, points may be assigned for the average diploma score and the grade for the graduation project when participating in the competitive selection to degree programmes with admissions test held in the form of competitive selection of documents (portfolio). In this case, for the point assignment, only one education credential shall be considered when applicants participate in the competitive selection for one field of study. The diploma score average shall be calculated based on the standard education credential supplement. Should a supplement to the standard education credential be missing, the average score for the particular applicant shall be zero (0) points.

5.8. Should they submit forged documents, documents containing deliberately falsified information, and provide papers with illegal borrowings (plagiarism) or papers performed by a third party, the applicant shall be liable in compliance with the legislation of the Russian Federation. Thus, if such facts have been established, the applicant shall be assigned the lowest point for their admissions test - zero (0) points.

5.9. Papers specified in Clauses 5.5.1 and 5.5.2 of the Regulations for Admissions Tests (an essay and a motivation letter) shall be graded by the relevant examination board members in the electronic system of portfolio assessment as a single set of papers.

5.10. The essay and the motivation letter must not contain information that may help identify their authorship, except for the cases explicitly specified in the syllabus of the admissions test. Should any of the documents (the essay or the motivation letter) contain information disclosing the authorship, including those of them submitted in handwriting, the applicant shall be assigned the lowest point (zero (0) points) for both of the documents (the essay and the motivation letter) and Master's Degree Programmes) at St Petersburg University in 2022

Regulations for Review of Written Works, Appeal Submission, and Appeal Proceedings

1. Should an applicant disagree with the result of the respective admissions test after it has been announced, they can review their written work, written part of the oral and written admissions test, documents submitted within the portfolio, papers submitted within the practical, creative competition (hereinafter referred to as 'written work') in the manner prescribed by the Regulations for Review of Written Works, Appeal Submission, and Appeal Proceedings (hereinafter referred to as the Regulations for Review) and file in a reasoned letter of appeal (hereinafter referred to as the appeal). Such an appeal can also be submitted if the applicant believes that the Regulations for Admissions Tests have been violated.

2. The date of the announcement of admissions test results shall be the day the admissions test results are made available in the manner prescribed by Clause 1.6 of the Regulations for Admission.

3. The applicants shall be informed of the result announcement date for each admissions test, the period specified for submitting applications concerning reviewing the written papers accomplished during the admissions test, the period specified for reviewing written papers, the period of time specified for submitting the appeals, the period of time of the appeal consideration for each admissions test in the manner prescribed by Clause 1.6 of the Regulations for Admission. The above-mentioned information shall also be included in the admissions test schedule.

4. The information about the assessment of the documents within the portfolio shall be available for the applicant through their Personal Account with the detailed description of the assessment procedure and indication of the score of points assigned for each submitted document based on assessment criteria of the admissions test specified in the syllabus of the admissions test. Should an admissions test be held in different from a competitive selection of documents (portfolio) form, persons that have submitted their applications for reviewing, their other written works shall have access to the awarded grades for their examination paper through the St Petersburg University system of distance learning in accordance with the approved schedule of admissions test sessions.

5. The applicants shall file in by their letters of appeal in person addressing them to the chair of the Appeals Panel either on the same or the following working day after the result announcement day for the respective examinations test. The applicant can also file an appeal claiming a violation of the Regulations for Admissions Tests during the day a respective admissions test is being held. The applicant shall file an appeal via email to the address of the respective information centre of the Admission Committee in the manner prescribed by Clause 1.6 of the Regulations for Admission and in the form established at St Petersburg University. Thus, such an appeal may not observe standards set in Clauses 2.12, 2.13, and 8.7 of the Regulations for Admission.

6. The appeal must contain either specific reasons why the applicant disagrees with the grade or certain evidence of the Regulations for Admissions Tests violation.

7. The admissions test schedule must specify the period of considering an appeal for the particular admissions test.

8. An authorised St Petersburg University official shall approve the composition of the Appeals Panel.

9. At least three (3) members of the Appeals Panel shall consider appeals.

10. The applicant shall be eligible to be present at the consideration of their appeal using a system of audio and video conferencing

11. The appeal consideration shall not be retaking the admissions test. The appeal proceedings shall only consider the degree of compliance with the prescribed provisions of the Regulations for Admissions Tests and/or criteria of admissions test assessment.

12. Upon the result of the appeal proceeding, the Appeals Panel may make the grade higher, lower, or left unchanged.

13. Upon the result of the appeal proceeding, the Appeals Panel shall make a decision concerning the admissions test grade. The Appeals Panel shall adopt its decisions by majority vote.

14. The Appeals Panel decision duly documented in the minutes and approved by the executive secretary of the Admissions Committee shall be final. The Appeals Panel decision duly documented in the minutes shall be made available for the applicant by sending it to the email address at least within the next working day after the day the appeal has been considered in accordance with the admissions tests schedule.

15. The Appeals Panel decisions on changing the grade for the admissions test (making it either higher or lower) shall influence the admissions test results that shall be published in the manner prescribed by Clause 1.6 of the Regulation for Admission.

16. The minutes of the Appeals Panel decisions shall be kept as long as prescribed by the File Register.

2. Points for individual achievements shall be assigned and added only if the applicant obtains at least 65 points for the admissions tests according to the admissions tests priority set forth by the Admissions Committee.

3. Should there be several types of individual achievements specified for one field of study/degree programme, the points shall be assigned only for one type of the specified individual achievements (upon the applicant's choice). In case there are several individual achievements of a similar type (several olympiad diplomas of a winner/awardee, several certificates of online course completion), the points shall be assigned only for one individual achievement.

4. In their admission application, the applicant must specify the particular individual achievement for which they may be assigned additional points (if the applicant has several individual achievements when being admitted to one field of study/degree programme, they must specify only one of them) and specify the details of the document confirming this particular individual achievement.

5. The applicant must attach documents confirming their individual achievements to their personal application form.

6. Should the admissions test be held in the form of a competitive selection of documents (portfolio) and points be assigned to the applicant for the submitted particular documents (portfolio), points for other individual achievements based on these particular documents (portfolio) considered earlier shall not be assigned.

7. The results of accomplishing open online courses at St Petersburg University shall be considered as individual achievements during the admissions procedure to master's degree programmes observing the correspondence between open online courses at St Petersburg University and degree programmes (enlarged groups of fields of study) to which the admission has been announced at St Petersburg University. The applicant shall be assigned five (5) points if they provide both a certificate of the successful completion of any open online course at St Petersburg University and meet requirements outlined in paragraph 2 of the Considerations of the Applicant's Individual Achievements when applying to master's degree programmes.

The correspondence between the open online courses at St Petersburg University and the degree programmes (enlarged groups of fields of study) shall be established as follows:

1. Distribution within degree programmes takes place at the point of the enrolment (by order on enrolment) based on the admission application according to the ranked list of the applicants and taking into account the priority of the degree programmes specified in the admission application complying with the specified limits for the minimum and maximum quantity of students mastering the degree programme as outlined in these Procedures.
2. Should a single competitive selection with subsequent distribution within the degree programmes be organised, the admission application must specify the priority of all offered degree programmes (hereinafter referred to as internal priorities) within the single competitive selection for a group of degree programmes. The applicants must rank degree programmes in descending order of priority within the single competitive selection for a group of degree programmes in the annex to their application.
3. Should the number of students applying for the enrolment to a particular degree programme (taking into account all applicants, including foreign nationals and stateless citizens, both on government-funded and fee-paid places paid for by individuals and/or legal entities) be less than the minimum quantity of students for the degree programme specified in these Procedures (column 4 'Minimum quantity (state-funded, fee-based)', this degree programme shall not be launched (open). The enrollees shall be distributed within other degree programmes within the corresponding group of the degree programmes complying with the priority of degree programmes specified in the admission application. In this case, the enrollees shall be distributed within the opening degree programmes (degree programmes with the largest quantity of the enrollees applied for the enrolment) according to the degree programmes priority specified in the admission application. Should there be a demand to increase the maximum quantity of students as specified in column 5 'Maximum quantity (state-funded)' upon the admissions test results, the enrolment shall be carried out regardless of this limit and considering the actual quantity of the enrollees applied for the corresponding degree programmes within the admission quotas set forth by the St Petersburg University Admissions Committee.

4. The limits for the maximum quantity of students in any degree programme (column 6 'Maximum quantity (government-funded, fee-based)' shall be set forth taking into account the admissions of all types of students, including foreign nationals and stateless citizens, and correspond to organisational and technical availabilities of the particular degree programme. At the same time, the enrolment shall be carried out strictly in accordance with the number of places allocated both for admission quotas and for fee-based ones set forth by the decision of the St Petersburg University Admissions Committee.

1. Distribution within degree programmes shall be carried out at point of the enrolment (by order on enrolment) based on the admission application according to the ranked list of the applicants and taking into account the priority of degree programmes specified in the admission application observing the limits for the minimum and maximum quantity of students mastering the degree programme as outlined in these Procedures.
2. Should a single competitive selection with subsequent distribution within the degree programmes be organised, the admission application must specify the priority of all offered degree programmes (hereinafter referred to as internal priorities) within the single competitive selection for a group of degree programmes
3. Should the quantity of students applying for the enrolment to a particular degree programme (taking into account all applicants, including foreign nationals and stateless citizens, both on government-funded and fee-paid places paid for by individuals and/or legal entities) be less than the minimum quantity of students for the degree programme specified in these Procedures (column 4 'Minimum quantity (state-funded, fee-based)', this degree programme shall not be launched (open). The enrollees shall be distributed within other degree programmes within the corresponding group of the degree programmes complying with the priority of degree programmes specified in the admission application. In this case, the enrollees shall be distributed within the opening degree programmes (degree programmes with the largest quantity of the enrollees applied for the enrolment) according to the degree programmes priority specified in the admission application. Should there be a demand to increase the maximum quantity of students as specified in column 5 'Maximum quantity (state-funded)' upon the admissions test results, the enrolment shall be carried out regardless this limit and considering the actual quantity of the enrollees applied for the corresponding degree programmes within the admission quotas set forth by the St Petersburg University Admissions Committee
4. The limits for maximum quantity of students in any degree programme (column 6 'Maximum quantity (state-funded, fee-based)' shall be set forth taking into account the admissions of all types of students, including foreign nationals and stateless persons, and correspond to organisational and technical availabilities of the particular degree programme. At the same time, the enrolment shall be carried out strictly in accordance with the quantity of places allocated both for admission quotas and for fee-based ones set forth by the decision of the St Petersburg University Admissions Committee.

Appendix 9
to the Regulations for Admission to Degree Programmes of Higher Education (Bachelor's Degree Programmes, Specialist's Degree Programmes, Master's Degree Programmes) at St Petersburg University in 2022

List of School Olympiads held in accordance with the Procedures for School Olympiads upon which results in particular rights shall be granted at admissions to St Petersburg University in 2022; correspondence between fields of study or specialities and degree programmes open for admission at St Petersburg University in 2022, olympiad profiles and the procedures for granting particular rights to school olympiads winners and awardees held in accordance with the Procedures for School Olympiads

Particular rights shall be granted to the winners and awardees of school olympiads held in 2021/2022, 2020/2021, 2019/2020, 2018/2019, 2017/2018 school years in accordance with the Procedures for School Olympiads and the List of School Olympiads approved by the Ministry of Education of the Russian Federation for the corresponding school year given they were 10th or 11th form students at the time of the olympiad.
